ANNOUNCEMENTS BREED THEATER.

The Village Blacksmith, an Engaging Rural Photo-Drama.

The Breed is showing today one of the choicest rural pictures ever seen on its screen, entitled The Village Elacksmith, being an adaptation of the famous poem of Longfellow. Here is seen the spreading chestnut tree, with its quaint little blacksmith shop sheltered by the great branches. Here is also seen the children returning from school, who pause to look in at the open door. The blacksmith's daughter is the object of admiration of a city chap who lures her into a mock marriage which occurs in the little church on the country green. The fraud is discovered by her brother, who administers the proper amighment to the isters the proper punishment to the false lover and his friend, the fake minister. They are run out of the place and banished from the district at once, and last seen they are crawling in their shame from the scene of their escapade.

A Loyal Deserter, one of the best Civil war pictures of the year, has a story that is absorbing in its plot. The Love Token, a Western masterpiece, a splendid story dealing with bandit and the stealing of a mine, and it consequent punishmen

DAVIS THEATER.

At this popular theater for the remainder of this week is a strong attractive programme including the famous Mutual Weekly of current events, containing news in pictures of events happenir in every part of the world; also portraying the very latest fashions for the ladies, direct from London, Paris and New York. Dr. Gar El Hanna, the special feature picture for this change of programme, is worth the price of admission alone. The story is of a daring criminal who evades the law in the most marvelous manner one could ever dream of, using mysterious disguises and hiding in the gutters or using his magnificent palace home for refuge, until the great work of the law encircles him and we leave him in prison to pender over his evil of the law encircles him and we leave him in prison to ponder over his evil doings. Another special feature is The Paymaster's Son, a stirring K. B. mill-tary drama in two reels, full of excit-ing events that happened to our fore-fathers with the Indians back in the early days of our country, interwoven with a beautiful little love story. The comedy features include Saving Ma-bers Dad and The Double Wedding both upreariously funny, making one of the best picture programmes ever seen on one bill. The vaudaville bill is one full of comedy—just one laugh after another. Berry and Berry head the bill in an eccentric comedy musical act; Emerson and Celesté in a comedy skit entitled In-De-Bag, and Liggins and Murlone, vocalists and comedians, complete one of the greatest shows ever seen at the Davis.

AT THE AUDITORIUM. All New Vaudeville and Pictures Today

An all-round good vaudeville and photoplay programme, with just the right amount of acts and films, and no two acts or pictures similar, is what you will see at the Auditorium today. A decided innovation in a musical offering is given by Les Gougets, a recent arrival from Paris. They play an instrument invented by Gouget called "the giant bigaphone." This was constructed by Coueson, a noted manufacturer, and cost 4,500 francs, or about $900. It is made of solid brass and silver plated. It is 20 feet long, two feet wide at the base and gradually tapers to a head one-half an inch ally tapers to a head one-half an inch wide. They also play another novelty instrument of serpentine construction called the "trombione." The performer plays this while balancing the in-strument on his lips. A very clever team are Morris & Clarke, who introduce A Study in Black and White. This is a neat singing and dancing specialty of decidedly original style, and one that will doubtless be appredated by all. A corking gymnastic novelty is presented by the Ryan Bros, who are known to the profession as the "cyclonic aerialists." Their act consists of feats of strength and skill presented in the style which denotes the finished artist.

notes the finished artist. Photoplays for today are The Re-demption of White Hawk, a thrilling two-part 101 Bison drams, and one which is made in this femous company's best style. The Animated Weekly, which shows this week's news this week, and a funny Powers comedy entitled Golden Rod.

UGH! HOW CHILDREN HATE CASTOR OIL.

To Clean the Little One's Stomach Liver and Waste-Clogged Bowels Give Gentle "Syrup of Figs."

Loook back at your childhood days.

Remember the physic that mother in-sisted on-castor oil, calomel, cathar-tics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them. With our children it's different. The day of harsh physic is over. We don't force the liver and 30 feet of bowels now; we coax them. We have no dreaded after effects, Mothers who sling to the old form of physic simply don't realize wha they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their little stomachs and tender bowels are injured by them.

injured by them. If your child is fretful, peevish, half slck, stomach sour, breath feverish and its little system full of cold; has diarrhoea, sore throat, stomach-ache; doesn't eat or rest well-remember—look at the tongue, if coated, give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, then don't worry, because you surely will have a well, smiling child in a few hours. Syrup of Figs being composed en-tirely of luscious figs, senna and aro-matics simply cannot be harmful. It MRS. STERR sweetens the stomach, makes the liver active and thoroughly cleanses the lit-tle one's waste-clogged bowels. POETRY

THE WORLD CHILD,

Brother of all the world am I. And brother of all the stars; My spirit mounts into the sky Beyond all earthly bars.

Life of my life, and heart of my love, is the boundless, billowy sea; In every cloud that sails above I am glad and strong and free,

In every life, I am born anew,
In every sun, I arise;
Wherever a soul is strong and free,
I look out from its radiant eyes,

Joy, that out of the sea upsprings, Joy, that pours down from the s Joy, of a myriad living things, All blending into one. Joy, that out of the earth wells up;
Joy, of the sunrise lands;
Joy, of Old Nature's brimming cup,
Given into my hands.
--F. V. Eggleston, in February Nautilus.

WINDS OF MORNING.

The great blue winds of morning A streaming host, went by Like a triumphant legion Across the vasts of sky.

They seemed a mighty vanguard, With pipes that shrilled and skirled, Repeating the old stories And glories of the world,

And we who raptly listened, The lyric wonder heard, We as the glad receivers Of some Memnonic word. Out of the brooding vastness Came faith and love renewed; We felt descend upon us A fresh beatitude.

Old riddles ceased to vex us,
The whither, whence and why,
Listing the winds of morning
The great blue winds swept by.
—Clinton Scollard, in the Chicago Record-Herald.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"Pop, what does tempting fate mean?" "Tempting fate, my son, means wearing a high hat in snow-balling time."—Judge. "Why this hush in the house this elaborate tiptoeing about?" "S-sh! Mother is getting ready to ask father for a little extra money."-Pittsburg "What has become of Miss Snocks? She was going in for theosophy when I saw her last." "She married a restaurant man and is studying dishpan theism."-Judge.

Miss Rocksey—What makes you think that papa has no idea of letting me marry you? Young Scads—So far he's given me three wrong tips on the stock market.—Life. Fweddy (at a loss for something to say)—I suppose, Miss Maizie, you're—, aw—a matinee girl. Miss Maizie—Not yet. I guess you are thinking of my cousin Rita. I'm just maw's girl—

Chicago Tribune. The M. D.—For a time it would be safer to feed the child modified cow's milk. The Young Mother—But I'm quite sure, doctor, that our milkman doesn't keep a modified cow.—Cleve land Plain Dealer. "You never thank a man for giving you a seat in a street car." "Not any more," replied Miss Cayenne. "I used to until I noticed that almost invaria bly he was going to get out at the next corner anyhow."—Washington Star. "This, madam," said the ladies' tail-producing the new fashion plate, the very latest Paris creation." "is the very latest Paris Wroadlay" (h," she exclaimed with an ecstasy that she made no effort to conceal, "how delightfully ugly and awkward!" Mrs. Crimsonbeak-And you know very well that late hours never helped anybody. Crimsonbeak-Oh, I don't know about that, I see that Dr. Brooks of Geneva discovered a comet at a o'clock the other morning.—Yonkers Statesman. "The fact of the matter is, I never amounted to anything before I was married." "Then you give your wife credit for awakening your ambition."

"No; for making it necessary for ma to get out and hustle."—Chicago Rec-ord-Herald. "Say, didn't Victor Hugo live here once?" "I can't remember all the people who have been tenants." "No, but Victor Hugo, the man who make books." "Then we haven't; we've never had a bookmaker here."-Pele
